About Joe Dwyer

Joe Dwyer realized his passion for motivational speaking after delivering a ten-minute speech in his sophomore year of high school. He discovered his gifts of compassion and empathy as well as a demonstrated ability to connect with his audience.

Joe began his professional career as a Chemical Engineer at Schering Plough, Having earned a degree in chemistry from Rutgers University. He moved on to Bell Atlantic in 1984 and won awards for Sales and Leadership four years in a row! While at Bell Atlantic he became a skilled Management/Labor Negotiator and was the “Circle of Excellence” award recipient for the 1998 Labor Agreement.

In 2000 Joe was instrumental in reshaping the administration within the Archdiocese of Newark and spent seven years as Vice Chancellor for Administration where he led the activities of the major departmental groups of the Archdiocese.

Joe is a member of the National Speakers Association and Coach U (a world class coach training organization). As a certified dog trainer who has always been advocating passionately for animal rights, he has rescued two dogs from shelters who share his family home in New Jersey. More recently, he trained one of them, Shelby, to be a certified therapy dog. Joe is also trained in martial arts, holding a 3rd degree black belt in Karate.

Along with these trainings and his diverse life experiences, Joe brings to his speaking an engaging and comfortable style that welcomes participation and allows for a mutual journey and connection to begin.
